Gov. J. N. Gillett and Party Stop at Ogden In Interest of Panama Fair.

GREETINGS FROM

GOVERNOR SPRY WELCOMES VISITING PARTY.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.) Ogden, May 2 .- Bound for the national capital, bent on landing the great Panama canal exposition for San Francisco, Governor J. N. Gillett of California, P. H. McCarthy, mayor of San Francisco, and fourteen others prominent in business and public af-fairs of that state reached Ogden at 2:30 this afternoon. They were en-thusiastically received by a large delethusiastically received by a large delegation of Utah citizens, including Governor William Spry, Mayor John S. Bransford of Salt Lake, Mayor William Glasmann of Ogden, Secretary of State Charles S. Tingey, Joseph E. Caine, secretary of the Salt Lake Company of the Salt L mercial club; A. R. Heywood, president of the Weber club, and other prominent citizes of both Ogden and Salt Lake. The reception was informal, visiting governor and his party being driven about the city in automobiles and returned to the Union station within thirty minutes, where, in a ten-minute outdoor meeting, Governor Gillett outlined the purpose of his mission and was given assurance of hearty co-operation on the part of Utah, Governor Spry offering to tele-graph to the Utah representatives at Washington enlisting their support. 'Our mission is of importance to the entire region lying west of the Rocky mountains," declared Governor Gillett. "New Orleans and other eastern see coast cities are working hard for the great celebration of the completion of the canal, and it is our purpose to convince the federal government of the right of the west, and especially the stern coast, to celebrate the union of the two great bodies of water. The completion of the Panama canal means more to the country lying between the Pacific coast and the Rocky mountains than to any other section on the globe.

Loyal to California. The completion of the canal opens the commerce of the Pacific ocean to all the world, and it is only fitting that any exposition celebrating the event should be held at San Francisco, the largest American port on the Pa-San Francisco, by reason of its situation and convenience of access all countries bordering the Pacific ocean, can be assured of the greatest cosmopolitan exhibition of any city in America. It is the largest city west of Chicago, the central port of the Pa Magellan and Behring straits, and the greatest single trade and shipping point in all the region between the Mississippi and the Pacific, between Canada and Mexico, and more vitally affected by the completion of the canal than any other city on the globe." Concluding, Governor Gillett de-

"Gentlemen, the entire west stands back of San Francisco in its claim for the exposition, this unanimity of action having been decided upon at the convention held recently at Santa Barbara. Our claim is the first, the best and the only just one. The other day at a meeting of San Francisco business men, $4,089,000 of the necessary $5,000,000 for the holding of the exposition, was subscribed for in one hour and thirty-seven minutes. The sale of the balance of the stock is assured and an over-subscription seems likely." Following the California governor's impromptu speech, Governor William Spry offered the support of Utah and wished the California delegation every

The toast was heartily responded to by half a hundred persons and in the midst of the demonstration Governor Gillett seized Sen-ator Klesel by the arm and started to board the train, declaring that he needed him at Washington. During the stay of the party in Og-den, the California delegates, together with the local and Salt Lake reception committee, were driven about the city, the trip taking in the industrial school, the school of the deaf and blind and other points of interest, Governor Gillett and Mayor McCarthy expressing unbounded surprise at the beauty of the city.

"I'have passed through Ogden two score times, but never yet have I gone further inland than the Union station. You certainly have one of the most beautiful and evidently progressive cities of the entire west," remarked Mayor McCarthy.

Speaking of the recent agitation in California against the holding of the Jeffries-Johnson fight next July, Governor Gillett declared that it would come to nothing, as the law was such as to prevent his taking any legal taking any legal steps against the fight.

ITALIAN IS HUNGRY

Son of Sunny Land Terrorizes Residents of Box Elder County-May Be Insane.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.) Ogden, May 2 .- Matteo Vilano, the Italian who was picked up in the mountains east of here last week after a two days' chase by the police, and later released from the count jail when a lunacy commission refused to commit him to the state mental hospital, was reported yesterday in the vicinity of Willard, Box Elder county, where ranchers declared he adopted tactics similar to those which terrorized residents in the outlying sections of Ogden. Running wildly into the kitchen of one farm house, Vilano demanded food, and farm house, Vilano demanded food, and upon being given it, ate with the vigor of a starved animal. At another house he repeated his actions, carrying away several loaves of bread under his arm. Becoming alarmed, several residents of Willard notified the Box Elder sheriff, who is now duplicating the mountain chase indulged in last week by the Weber county officials.

It is likely that Vilano, if caught, will be sent to the asylum at Provo. He secured his release from the local county jail several days ago, after hav-

HOOPER WANTS NEW ROAD.

County Commissioners Received Unusual Petition.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.) Ogden, May 2.—"Please, sirs, when an Hooper have a road? Some score of times before this plaint has come to your official ears, we believe. It was a dozen years ago since it was suggested to your honorable body that to give roads to the north and east and outh and west sections of the county, in fact, to all sections but southwest, was stretching the cloak of justice to the ripping point. Compact gravel highways lead to Ogden from all sections of the county save the south-west point, where Hooperites continue o jog to market through mud and lust without end. This town has things to sell and things to buy, and Ogden is our market, but at the present rate we will soon be completely isolated."

Such is the unique petition addressed to the board of county commissioners by a delegation of Hooper farmers this afternoon. It was filed for further ac-tion in much the same manner as the numerous other petitions from that sec-tion have been, but the delegates were assured that some official action favorable to Hooper would be taken soon.

VETO IS IGNORED.

Provo City Council Passes Billiard Room Ordinance Over Executive. (Special to The Herald-Republican.) Provo, May 2.—By a vote of 8 to 2, the council tonight passed the pool and billiard hall regulation ordinance over the veto of Mayor Ray, only after several prominent women had addressed the meeting. Councilmen Bott and Beebe stood with the mayor. For the Weman's Prohibition club, Mrs. J. W. Aird addressed the council and attacked the reasons given by Mayor Ray in vetoing the ordinance. Miss Alice Reynolds also addressed the council, urging the passage of the bill.

Negligence of City Authorities May Cost Municipality Neat

Sum.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.) Provo, May 2 .- Provo City has expended several thousand dollars for land, right of way, etc., for a municipal electric plant at the mouth of Provo canyon. A small quantity of water available for power purposes in Provo river, after the Telluride Power company had appropriated all it want-ed, was also filed upon by the city with the state engineer several years ago. The application was approved in the regular way, giving the city the legal length of time to make certain expenditures and improvements looking to the utilization of the water filed upon for power purposes. The lack of means to build an electric plant, and, in fact, to make the needed expenditures to hold the water, and probably a lack of information as to the work necessary to be done, caused the city to let its rights lapse. This was discovered by A. E. Snow of Spanish Fork, who then filed upon the water, and after investigation of the status of the city in the premises b; State Engineer Tan-ner, Snow's application was approved. This leaves the city in the position of having to negotiate with Mr. the water, which it needs for the operation of a municipal plant, and such gotiations are under way; and the city will probably again secure the water, as Mr. Snow wants the money and the Third year students—Louise Berg, Cleon Burt, Archie Christensen, Veda Cooper, James Dewey, John Forsgren, ing plant, and the citizens generally ing plant, and the citizens generally are in favor of this, and will no doubt vote for the bonds in order that the city may secure a lighting plant without further delay or additional unneces-sary expense, and while there is yet an opportunity to secure water for the operation of the plant.

History of the Case. Aberdeen, Wash., May 2.-William Gohl is charged with murder in first degree in connection with death, on or about December 23, 1909, of Charles (Herman) Hadberg, or Hatberg. Gohl's name is also connected with the slaying of John Hoffman, in the sworn confession of one Klingenberg, a sailor, who is also under arrest in connection with the crimes. Hoffman and Hadberg were jacks-of-all-trades about Aberdeen. Gohl for some time prior to his arrest was agent for the Sailors' union in Aber-

To gain an understanding of the sit-uation which appears to have led up to the death of Hoffman, it is necessary to go back to 1907, when the re-peated finding of corpses in the wa-ters around Aberdeen led to the appellation of "floater fleet" to this aggregation of drowned persons.

This floater fleet, composed of sailors in most cases, was generally pre sumed to have been men who had been "slugged" or drugged or shot and robbed in the numerous dives which infested the water front of the city and afterward thrown in the Wishkah river The authorities tried to fasten the responsibility for these mysterious deaths, but they could obtain no tangible evidence. They did, however, virtually wipe out of existence the colony of dives. The finding of mysterious dead men ceased with the closing of

First Hint Given

About a year afterward Mayor Benn of Aberdeen was sojourning at Green River Hot Springs, near Seattle. Another of the guests was an Aberdeen saloonkeeper. This man, in a burst of onfidence, Benn alleges, told him that ne knew enough about Billy Gohl to end him to the gallows. Benn associated the reference to Kohl with the "floater fleet," and, when he returned to Aberdeen, quietly instituted an investigation Benn, with the assistance of George S. Dean, chief of police, patiently pursued the investigations for over a year without obtaining evidence sufficient to base a prosecution. Early this year, however, they gained the confidence of a former intimate of Gohl, who goes y the name of "Billy Montana."

Mayor Benn and Chief Dean assert that Montana told them Gohl had a short time previously told him that "Hedberg had an anchor for a pillow at the mouth of Indian creek."
Also that Gohl had said that Hoffman had been "put out of business" and that Kingenberg had helped to do it. Search confirmed Montana's revela tions regarding Hadberg. His revela-tions also caused surveillance of Klingfor Santa Rosalia, Mexico. The master of this craft was asked by telegraph to bring Klingenberg back to Aberdeen, which he did, and the sailor was arrested.

One Man Confessed. Klingenberg broke down under nestioning of the Aberdeen police ofcials and made a sworn statement to Prosecuting Attorney Campbell, win substance asserted that Gohl shot Hoffman and sunk his body in the Wishkah, and that, under fear of death at Gohl's hands and at Gohl's command, Klingenberg himself had shot Hadberg to death and that the body had been sunk with a fifty-pound an-chor at the mouth of Indian creek.

The arrest of Gohl was followed by a tremendous reign of terror in Aberdeen. Persons who had been active the investigation received anony mous letters threatening them and their families with death. Citizens were followed on the streets by unknown men and few had the temerity to venture forth after dark, and then only when guarded. Fearing violence against Gohl, the authorities a day or two after his ar-rest moved him to Montesano, the county seat, where he has since re-mained in jail.
